International Research Awards for Faculty and PhD Students

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Temple CIBER (Center for International Business Education and Research) accepts proposals to fund research grants for faculty members and PhD students to develop a research project on an international business-related topic. The purpose of these grants is for PhD students to develop international business-related dissertation research in all disciplines, and for faculty to develop IB related research in their functional disciplines.

Monetary awards will range depending upon the scope of research and matching funds secured from within Temple University and/or outside sources. CIBER resources may be used for the purchase of hourly research assistance, data collection, etc.

Awards will be disseminated through the Temple CIBER office. Should travel be involved, grantees must contact the CIBER office before making airline or other travel arrangements. Travel arrangements must be arranged on domestic airlines and meet increasingly selective criteria at least one month in advance of travel.

Applications are accepted on a rolling basis. Proposals will be reviewed by the academic and administrative directors of the Temple CIBER, and by selected academic and/or business members of the CIBER's Advisory Council and IGMS Faculty Council.

In your proposal, you must demonstrate how your proposed research initiative will make a distinct and significant contribution to the existing literature and knowledge in the field.

If you have any questions prior to your application, please contact Professor M. Kotabe, CIBER Research Director, at mkotabe@temple.edu for consultation.
